Australian Vanadium advances Blesberg

Australian Vanadium is advancing the Blesberg lithium-tantalum-feldspar project towards feasibility to extract feldspar and lithium, beryl and tantalite by-products.

RC drilling is currently under way with 18 RC drill holes having been completed to date for 1,400m, intersecting the pegmatite zone in all holes.

The company's objective is to establish a production facility at Blesberg that maximises the value of the LCT pegmatites. This will include high volume ceramic grade feldspar and quantities of high value by-product spodumene, beryl and tantalite.
